Army Higher Headquarters Inspection

West Point Child and Youth Services (CYS) completed its Annual Army Higher Headquarters Inspection (AHHI). The 2021 inspection was conducted virtually and contained criteria concerning Health, Safety, Sanitation, Patron Communications and Relations, Emergency Preparedness, Program Administration and Staff and Volunteer Background Checks, Orientation, Certifications and Training. CYS staff submitted all required documentation and photographic evidence of over 170 criteria, provided completed Patron Surveys as well as participated in one-on-one inspector interviews to thoroughly represent its daily compliance with the Army's high-level standards to ensure the health, safety and well-being of children and youth.

We are proud to share that our inspection concluded with CYS meeting all but three criteria. These three criteria are all direct reflections of the loss of childcare spaces in the Child Development Center's closed classrooms due to the current direct-care staffing shortage. CYS Leaders continue to promote its employment opportunities to West Point and its surrounding communities via physical and digital postings and collegiate partnerships; as well as a broader audience via world-wide employment websites, social media and virtual job fairs.

Child and Youth Services will strive daily to sustain these standards and to continue to provide high levels of programming and care. We would like to extend great appreciation on behalf of CYS in its entirety for your Patronage and constant support in maintaining excellence. We ask you as our Patrons to continue to provide the daily communication that has supported CYS in achieving its mission; this communication is imperative to our operations at every level. Your child's direct-care staff, their program's Director and our Child and Youth Services Chief are always available to receive your valued feedback, concerns and cheers.

Stony Child Development Center

Happy Fall to all of our Stony CDC families! We are excited for the fall season and new adventures with the children. Here at the Stony CDC, we use developmentally appropriate practices to help your children grow and learn through play. The environments in the classrooms are set up to help engage the children in math, literacy, science, engineering, technology, and art. The children will also have the opportunity to play outside, weather permitting, so be sure to bring in the appropriate clothing for your children with the cooler weather coming. We are looking forward to seeing everyone and having fun while learning!

CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER NAEYC SUCCESS!

In the Summer of 2021, the Stony Child Development Center earned accreditation from the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) – the world's largest organization working on behalf of young children.

The Stony Child Development Center went through an extensive self-study and quality-assurance process, followed by an on-site visit by NAEYC Assessors to verify and ensure that the program met each standard and criteria for: child relationships, curriculum, teaching approaches, child assessment, nutrition and health, staff qualification and training, family and community relationships, physical environments and program leadership and management. NAEYC-accredited programs are always prepared for unannounced visits during their accreditation term, which lasts for five years.

The professional staff at the Stony Child Development Center have exhibited their ability to meet the highest benchmarks of professional practice for the education of young children. Achieving NAEYC accreditation is a direct testament to the dedication and proficiency of CDC staff in providing appropriate, coordinated, evidence-based, individualized, outcome oriented experiences for children in cooperation with CYS families.

Summer Camp 2021 was a SAC Blast

Summer Camp was a complete BLASST for children and staff that participated in Summer Care 2021. Children were given the opportunity to participate in several different themed activities while in care to include STEAM, active play, independent play, exploration and group activities while in care. Although we were faced with hardship at times due to COVID guidelines and regulations, SAC overcame by providing different opportunities and activities for children to participate in while at the School Age Center. SAC children used their imaginations to guide them while learning and playing. They engaged in virtual tours of Ben and Jerry's Ice Cream Factory, Crayon Factory where they learned how crayons, highlighters and erasers are made, Under the Sea where they studied the coral reef and Through the Rainforest and Deserts where they learned more about wild life and wild biomes.

We invited some special visitors to present to the children during summer camp. Fire fighters came to Summer Camp to explain and demonstrate a fire suit and the correct way to wear it; some children even had the opportunity to try the suit themselves. Mad science paid a visit to the children to show them several different formulas that create a bubbling potion. The children also worked with staff to build their own mini-golf course which allowed all children to play mini-golf during the summer. We concluded Summer Camp with an End of Summer Water Play Bash. With another Summer Camp in the books, SAC can't wait to see what Summer 2022 has in store for West Point School Age Center!

Youth Sports Programs

The West Point Child and Youth Services program is thrilled to announce the Youth Sports and Fitness program has been awarded the Better Sports for Kids Quality Program Provider designation by the National Alliance for Youth Sports.

Earning the Better Sports for Kids Quality Program designation demonstrates that the West Point Youth Sports and Fitness program has taken steps to ensure a safe, quality playing environment for children. The Youth Sports and Fitness program has proven it meets key requirements in five categories – Written Policies and Procedures, Volunteer Screening, Coach Training, Parent Education and Accountability.

The National Alliance for Youth Sports, a 501(c)3 organization headquartered in West Palm Beach, FL., administratively manages the designation which was developed around the National Standards for Youth Sports, a guiding resource originally published in 1987.

This achievement clearly demonstrates the commitment of the Youth Sports and Fitness staff to providing a program that promotes, supports and encourages the development of character, athleticism, sportsmanship and healthy lifestyle skills in a safe and appropriate setting.

West Point Youth Sports and Fitness program's designation is valid until December 31, 2022.
